Mexican Drawn Work For Shirtwaists.

Have you seen our Shirtwaists on exhibition in the Art Department, made with Mexican Drawn Work in front and sleeves?

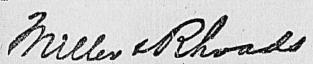

It's the latest style in Linen Walsts; looks very genteel, washes nicely, and is all hand-made.

The work is done with Bureau Scarfs or squares; the scarfs are in two sizes—smaller ones $3.50: larger ones $6.00—the latter scarf making two Shirtwaists.

We also have the drawn work by theyard at $1.50. It's six inches wide-8 tows of open work.

Pretty Medallions of the same work, 121/2 and 15c. each.

As we said, this drawn work is all hand-made, and the reason it's so low-priced is the fact that peasant labor in Mexico is very cheapfour cents a day being about the average price paid to the women engaged in this work-and then they consider themselves pretty well

"This bill is utterly powerless to stop the particular kind of publication which it aims at, but it encompasses legitimate publications with an unlimited network of embarrassment and vexation; it would cripple and curtail the presentation of the regular and proper news of the day; it would start up a whole swarm of speculative shysters and embatone blackmailers; it infrinces the just and constitutional liberty of the press, and would impair that waluable protection for public morals and public rights which is found in the searchlight of publicity; it is special legislation in undertaking to make a law for newspapers from its operations; it perpetrates a gross wrong in seeking to fasten the principal responsibility upon the agent where the agent not only does not commit the offense, but where he has not even power to prevent it."

Alexander Simpson, Jr., and Richard C. Dale, both of Philadelphia, spoke in flavor of the bill, and Thomas V. Cooper, a member of the Legislature, and Cyrus G. Derr. an attorney, against it.

The contract for furnishing the United States navy with tobacco for the ensuing year has again fallen into the hands of Butler & Bosher, the manufacturers of this city, who have upon several previous occasions succeeded in capturing the rich

The news traveled fast over Shockee Slip yesterday, Mr. Butler was on the sales as usual, and at every turn some-body asked him about the contract. In the majority of cases he threw off the the majority of cases he threw off the inquiries with some joke, declaring that he could not discuss the matter. Finally, however, he indicated even more readily than by his refusal to deny it that the report was true. "You may say for publication" he declared, "that I have just gotten into my new factory and that I will probably start off with the navy contract."

will probably start off with the navy contract."

The contract is a matter of very considerable importance, and there is always sharp competition for it.

This year there was a call for 25,000 pounds of manufactured tobacce, about 25,000 more than last year. Bids were opened in March, and the award was made a day or two later.

Mr. Butler submitted bids running from 28 cents to 41.2 cents per pound. The tobacce at 58 cents was that chosen. The first delivery was to be made on May ist, but owing to the late hour at which the award was made there will probably be an extension of time.

As usual, there were quite a number of other firms competing for the contract, which represents in money some $5,000 or $30,000. The Richmond concerns in the race were the Continental Tobacce Company, C. D. Larus & Company, W. T. Hancock & Company, Pace Tobacco Company, R. A. Paterson & Company, United States Tobacco Company, and Butler & Bosher.

The contract firm has just moved into a handsome new factory, equipped with all modern improvements. The main building is five stories high, measuring 10x00 feet, and has an annex also five stories, 80x40.
